Robbery foiled, nab 2 at store

A store manager and a Madison policeman foiled an armed robbery attempt which led to the arrest of two men at the Ben Franklin Store, 1441 Third St., Madison, at 5:15 p.m. Saturday.

The store manager, Bill Criffield, 36, of St. Louis, reported he was in the back of the store when two men approached him and asked to look in the store's wastebaskets.

Criffield said he resisted, knocking one gunman down with an elbow and jumping on the other, both of them falling over a display counter. Broken glass cut the gunman's right elbow.

During the scuffle, Criffield reportedly fell over another display counter, breaking the glass and cutting his left forearm.

Price assails inflation in Labor Day message

In a Labor Day message, Rep. Melvin Price, Dem., 23rd Illinois District, called "the faltering economy the number one issue facing the American wage earner."

Paying tribute to the men and women of organized labor, Congressman Price said, "without the labors and skills of the American worker, our nation's economy would not grow and prosper. But the American worker can't do it alone."

"Government," he continued, "plays a large role in maintaining and strengthening our economic health. Government policy must not be restrictive or harmful to the every day lives of the average worker in this country," Rep. Price said.

Adding to this economic disparity, the congressman said, "corporate profits have been skyrocketing with no controls and top executive pay raises have been averaging 15 per cent annually."

"The boom and bust roller coaster of an inflationary recession has to be stopped," Rep. Price concluded, "in order to restore wage earners' confidence in the economy and the government's policies."

When he completed, Fanning told the man to lie on the floor. A store clerk warned Fanning that another armed man was behind him. When the policeman turned, he saw the other man hiding behind a flower display.

Fanning said he ordered the man to come out with his hands in the air, but the man raised only his right hand as he walked out. The policeman said that when he ordered the man to lay down, what was in his left hand, the man placed a pistol on a counter and came to where Fanning and the other gunman were.

Fanning made the second man lie on the floor and handcuffed both. Other Madison officers arrived and took the two men to the police station. Officers later found the second pistol hidden under a package of socks on a display table.

Davis and Boyd were held in the Madison Jail.

Man beaten, robbed

Terry Respondek, 23, of Rural Route 2, Box 698, was robbed and beaten by a man at West Ponton Road and Briarcliff Drive at 11:15 p.m. Friday.

He said he was making a telephone call when the man approached him, placed a gun in his back and stole his wallet, money and car keys. The robber made him lie face down in the front seat of Respondek's auto while the man attempted to drive the car. Respondek said the robber apparently was unable to drive a stick shift car. He struck Respondek on the back of his head with the gun and left in a large luxury car, according to the victim.

Respondek was taken to St. Elizabeth Hospital where X-rays were taken and he was admitted with a head injury.

Arson probe

Arson is suspected in fires which gutted a home Friday and which caused extensive damage to Baker's Drive-In at Edwardsville Road and the railroad tracks on Labor Day. The first fire was at 1 a.m. Friday at the home of Thomas Sparks, 2525 Lincoln Ave. Sparks is a U. S. Army recruiter, stationed at Belleville.

An anti-Army slogan was found painted on a wall inside the house after the fire, it was reported.

Furniture was stacked in the living room and apparently ignited. The fire caused about $6,000 damage. The fire department and state fire marshal's staff have begun an investigation. The drive-in fire apparently was set in a utility room in the center of the dining area.

Natural gas outlets also were turned on in the oven and an open grill at the rear of the building, firemen reported. The rear door was found unlocked by the fire fighters. Damage was estimated at $8,000. Firemen were at the scene one and a half hours.

$1,200 worth of copper stolen

Metal worth more than $1,200 was stolen from the Iron and Metal Co., 1400 Sixth St., Madison, operated by Larry Palkes. The theft was discovered by Palkes Thursday. Taken were four barrels of copper weighing 1,600 pounds, worth $1,200, 15 auto radiators valued at $6 each and a large sheet of aluminum worth $38.

Arrest 7 in food theft at drive-in Theft of more than $230 worth of chickens and other food from a cooler at Uncle Charlie's Drive-In, 2610 Nameki Road, before 8:40 a.m. Sunday led to the arrests of seven youths. Nearly all of the food was recovered by police who said they followed a trail of food from the drive-in to a home in the 2900 block of Victory Drive where six of the arrests were made.

Arrested at the home were Randy Hotz, 19, Ricky Hotz, 19, and James Hotz, 18, of that address, and Robert Odum, 17, Dale Hughes, 21, both of 2535 Stratford Lane. They were charged with burglary. Also arrested at the Victory Drive address was Charles Townsend, 23, of that address, charged with theft. Police later arrested Charles Valle, 18, of 4601 Kirkpatrick Homes, at his home and charged him with burglary. Entry to the cooler was made by sawing through a lock.

Elderly urged to file claims for tax rebates

State Rep. Horace L. Calvo (D-Granite City) has urged senior citizens and disabled people to take advantage of the deadline extension of filing "circuit breaker" tax relief claims.

"Everyone over 65 and residents of Illinois who are medically or physically disabled are eligible for possible state rebates on local property taxes payable this year," Calvo said.

"The state Department of Revenue has extended the filing date from Sept. 15 to Nov. 15 so that all those eligible will have a chance to apply for rebates." Calvo explained that the deadline has been extended because some counties have been late this year in sending out property tax bills.

"Thus far," Calvo said, "the Department of Revenue has processed over 96,000 applications for cash grants since the tax relief program went into effect Jan. 1. Over 60,000 of these applicants have received grants averaging $160."

"If an elderly or disabled taxpayer hasn't filed a claim, he or she can receive a claim form by writing to the Illinois Department of Revenue, P.O. Box 3845, Springfield. Those writing should ask for Form IL 1363."

Calvo said that applicants filling out the form will have to supply the Department of Revenue with their total household income for 1972. In addition, disabled and elderly homeowners will need to tell the department how much property tax they have to pay this year and renters will need to list the total rent they paid in 1972.

Using the figures supplied on the form, the Department of

BURGLAR EATS STEW

The assignment for this implementation is consistent with the broad perspective of the census, goals and objectives in which there is functional separation between Gateway as a planning agency and Bi-State as an operating agency provided there is a mechanism for continuing coordination...

In other business the council agreed to include riverfront areas along the Missouri River in studies for future port developments.

Bi-State to prepare rail relocation plan

The Bi-State Development Agency was designated last week as the proper agency to implement an areawide railroad relocation and redevelopment of riverfront areas by the East-West Gateway Coordinating Council's Board of Directors.

The board gave its chairman authority to designate a committee to negotiate a memorandum of agreement with Bi-State to implement the plan.

The census estimate showed an increase of 9 per cent population in Madison County from 1970 to 1972 while a drop of 5.8 per cent was noted in St. Louis.

The staff report to the board said, "The population estimates, however, should not necessarily be taken at face value. For example, the staff has monitored building permits issued and annual increase for the counties within the region."

A comparison of the staff-generated data with that published by the Bureau of the Census would indicate either that the region has a large number of vacancies and or demolitions of residential structures. "That is, jurisdictions have issued building permits or have had natural increases in excess of the population losses noted by the census."

The Madison County estimate showed an increase from 250,500 residents in 1970 to about 253,500 on July 1, 1972, an increase of 2,300 residents.

The council also seated David C. Higgins of Belleville as a new board member, appointed by Gov. Daniel Walker of Illinois as a representative of the labor community.

A subcontract with the Southwestern Illinois Area Planning Commission (SIMAPC) was amended to have SIMAPC provide additional information needed for a U. S. Corps of Engineers study of area drainage in relation with the proposed Illinois Drainage program.

SIMAPC is to receive an additional $2,604 for the new studies, increasing its contract for the total study to $36,504.

19 openings in state job training programs

The Granite City area office of the Illinois State Employment Service is currently looking for individuals to accept training in three widely diversified areas, Darrel Stites, ISES area manager, announced today.

Openings as trainees are available in drafting (five openings), electrical and metal fabricating machine operator, (10 openings) and building maintenance (four openings).

Stites said persons interested in the training programs offered are invited to call 451-5756, or visit the new ISES area office at 1920 Edison Ave., Tuesday.

The state employment officer pointed out that the agency's primary function is to help the community to aid the citizenry in finding jobs and to help local employers fill their manpower needs.

Since the early 1960s, additional responsibilities have been given the ISES, Stites added. He explained that assistance to individuals in selection of a career and helping them attain their goal by providing an opportunity to get training are among the extra services.

He said the ISES is eligible to only provide training for entry into non-skilled areas and for individuals who are having problems in obtaining a job. State regulations prohibit training of persons in skilled trades and in professional areas, he said.

Those enrolled in ISES training programs receive wages during the instruction period and subsidized living expenses, Stites said.

Full information concerning financial arrangements, location of the training school and other details may be obtained next week at the Granite City ISES office.

First Ward Alderman Robert Don Reeves said that he had received complaints from a resident in the 1500 block of Second Street that cans containing rubbish from a trucking company were near a house and causing an offensive odor.

City bills for Aug. 15 through Aug. 28 in the amount of $33,594 were approved for payment.

Mayor Sasyk reminded the council members that the next council meeting on Sept. 11 will

Record 208,971 at 1973 River Festival concerts

An unofficial count of 208,971 persons attended the 1973 Mississippi River Festival, setting a new record for an MRF season, Circuit Manager Lyle Ward reports.

The previous record was set last year when 194,797 heard the Festival's music events at the Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville site.

A wind and rain storm during the final concert Wednesday night, Aug. 29, did not dampen the enthusiasm of the 8,700 persons who attended the performance of folk singers David Crosby and Graham Nash.

Other records also were broken during the fifth anniversary season.

For the first time, the total attendance topped the 200,000 mark—with the Festival marking the occasion Tuesday night, Aug. 28 at the Pete Midger concert.

That evening, Mr. and Mrs.

Donald Mayhew of St. Louis were designated as the 200,001st and 200,011st persons to pass through the gate this season.

They were taken to the backstage area of the Festival site, introduced to Mike Seeger and presented with her autographed photo and two tickets to the final MRF performance the next night.

The Festival, for the first time in its history, extended its season from six to seven weeks with a total of 32 concerts—12 presented on Saturdays and Sundays by the St. Louis Symphony Orchestra and 20 folk-pop-rock events. Previously, no more than 30 concerts had been presented in a season.

The top crowd-drawer this season was Chicago on Aug. 25, with 28,576 persons attending.

Other audiences numbering over 12,000 were: Seals & Crofts on July 25, 21,180; America on July 8, 18,500; Loggins & Messina on Aug. 15, 17,618;

Stills & Manassas on Aug. 1, 14,311; and Sha Na Na on July 18, 12,131.

The record audience for a single performance at the Festival was set in 1971 when the rock group The Who, brought nearly 35,000 persons to the hillside site.

The St. Louis Symphony Orchestra, conducted by Music Director and Conductor Walter Susskind, Associate Conductor Leonard Slatkin and six guest conductors, drew a total of 24,682 to its 12 weekend concerts, an increase of 3,468 persons over the 1972 season.

The 1973 season was sponsored by the Mississippi River Festival, Inc., a not-for-profit Illinois corporation with directors from Missouri and Illinois.

It received financial support from the Missouri State Council on the Arts, the Illinois Arts Council and Friends of the Mississippi River Festival.

Illinois purchases in July accounted for 7.2 per cent of the national total of $487,000,000, and in the first six months 67.7 per cent of the Illinois 1973 goal of $417,400,000 has been reached.

Classes usually are available without charge to the student, and most books and materials are furnished.

School officials said they are confident classes can operate through the first semester. They encouraged anyone wanting to enroll to register.

Nameoki trash pickup schedule is outlined

A revolving schedule for trash pickup in Nameoki Township was announced this week by township officials. The new service is part of an environmental cleanup program initiated with federal revenue sharing funds.

A township spokesman explained the intent of the program is to pick up and dispose of large items that regular trash haulers will not take, including tree limbs.

The total environmental cleanup program also includes street sweeping, cleaning ditches and other projects. The spokesman cautioned that only large items, such as stoves, sinks, bed springs and tree limbs will be picked up by the township. Smaller items and grass clippings will be left for the regular trash haulers.

Trucks will observe the revolving schedule and will not make special runs on calls. Copies of the full schedule are being distributed to homes in the township.

Items must be placed ad

acent to the street or road

vacuum on the private property. All pickups will be made between 7 a.m. and 3:30 p.m.

Each precinct in the township will be serviced by the trucks twice each month with the pickup only for large trash and the second pickup for fire limbs. The schedule follows:

Pct. 1—first and third Mondays of each month; Pct. 2—first and third Tuesdays; Pct. 3—first and third Wednesdays; Pct. 4—first and third Thursdays, and Pct. 5—first and third Fridays.

Pct. 6—second and fourth Mondays; Pct. 7—second and fourth Tuesdays; Pct. 8—second and fourth Wednesdays; Pct. 9—second and fourth Thursdays, and Pct. 10—second and fourth Fridays.

The trucks will be used for miscellaneous pickups in all townships the fifth week of each month. No pickups will be made on Saturdays or Sundays.

Gene Hargrave, soloist, sang "Hawaiian Wedding Song" and "The Wedding Prayer," accompanied by Mrs. Phyllis Vance, organist.

The bride was escorted down the white carpeted aisle and given in marriage by her father. She selected a floor length gown of white dotted swiss, featuring a ruffled yoke with a pen-neckline trimmed with a delicately designed heart lace.

Her long sleeves were fashioned with dotted swiss ruffles at the wrists and the slightly full skirt was encircled at the hemline with a wide flounce.

She wore a long cathedral veil of bridal illusion, edged with matching heart lace, and she held a bouquet of white carnations and purple violets festooned with long streamers.

Miss Kathy Bridges, a sister of the bride, was maid of honor. Miss Karen Lassen and Miss Treva Bridges, another sister of the bride, served as bridesmaids.

Gwendolyn Kuehne is wed

The wedding of Miss Gwendolyn Kuehne and Randy Higgins was solemnized at 6 p.m. Aug. 18 at the Word of Life Tabernacle, 1200 Meridian Ave., before an altar decorated with bouquets of blue touch-me-nots and other assorted summer flowers.

The Rev. Harold Crippen performed the double ring ceremony. Mrs. Jean Kelling, soloist and organist, sang "We've Only Just Begun."

"Love Story" and "Walking Through This World."

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. Bobby Kuehne, 2803 Warren Ave. The groom is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Higgins, 261 Northbridge.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride chose a gown of white mirla mist over taffeta and Chantilly lace. A sheer yoke created a strapless effect and the collar was edged with lace. Full bishop sleeves were tightly fitted at the wrists and lavishly accented with lace motifs.

The full skirt, enhanced with appliques of lace motifs embellished with sequins and pearls, cascaded in the back with tiers of Chantilly lace ruffles into a full sweep train.

A Juliet cap of Chantilly lace traced with seed pearls, secured an elbow length veil and her bouquet was an arrangement of forget-me-nots and summer blossoms.

Mrs. Janet Milton was matron of honor, and Miss Cheri Kuehne, a sister of the bride, Miss Kathy Vasquez and Miss Pat Toney were bridesmaids. Their gowns were designed of dactron organza with lace ruffles framing tiny flowers in lilac, pink and blue to form a pinafore effect. Matching lace and floral braid created high necklines on the fitted bodices and full sheer sleeves were gathered at the wrists into narrow bands of decorative trim.

The honor attendant chose a lilac dress and the bridesmaids appeared in pale blue frocks. Each wore a headpiece of pearls and loops of organza to hold in place long veils in lilac and blue.

Brenda Chilton was flower girl and Greg Higgins, a brother of the groom, was the ringbearer. She wore a blue frocked gown, full length, with a high ruffled neckline and gathered skirt.

Max Boner attended the groom as best man. Groomsmen were Walter Milton, Rick Wisenborn and Rodney Hayes. Seating the guests were Dave Adams, Larry Higgins, a brother of the groom, and Dan McKee.

A reception was given at the V.F.W. Hall, following the early evening service, and Mr. and Mrs. Higgins, the groom's parents, served the rehearsal dinner in their home.

The former Miss Kuehne is attending Granite City High School. Her husband is a 1972 graduate of Granite City High School and is employed at National Lead Industries.

Mrs. Kuehne, mother of the bride, selected a gown of mint green knit for the wedding and the groom's mother, Mrs. Higgins, was attired in a pink knit dress. Each wore a corsage of forget-me-nots and carnations.

The newlyweds are residing at 2141 Miracle Ave., after a honeymoon in Arkansas.

Soccer week away, Warriors hope to remain No. 1 in state

By Ken Thompson
Press-Record Staff Writer

The month of September. The Granite City High School soccer Warriors had ended their regular season with 21 wins, one loss and two ties.

The squad had earned the honor of being the Warrior soccer team to score the most victories, goals and shutouts in one season.

Rated number 1 in the state since late September, GCHS lived up to that ranking by defeating New Trier West to become the first team ever to win the Illinois State soccer championship.

"We're number one," the students could chant without fear of being disputed. It was also the year that a young coach named Gene Baker was completing his seventh and last year as head basketball and soccer coach at Riverview Gardens High School, St. Louis, where he had initiated that school's first soccer program.

Baker, born and raised in St. Louis and a graduate of Christian Brothers College High School there, will lead the 1973 GCHS South soccer team into action as the new head Warrior coach.

A man with impressive credentials, he has taught soccer part-time for four years at Harris Teachers' College in St. Louis and was a member of the 1965 St. Louis University soccer team which was defeated and beat Michigan State to win the NCAA soccer title.

Baker has been involved with soccer either as a player or a coach since he was five years old.

"Sports Illustrated," he told the Press-Record, "calls soccer the fastest growing sport in America. This is true without a doubt."

"I think what has made soccer progress so slowly in the past has been the lack of grassroots backing. People needed to get in and support the youngsters."

Baker said he thinks soccer is progressing rapidly in the Quad-City area because of the efforts of many people who

"I know their soccer, and work hard with the youngsters," he added. "Those same people have a right to feel good and be proud of themselves after having produced a championship team like the '72 Warriors."

"But this is 1973," he said, "and it's a whole new ball game."

"We started practice just weeks ago. From what I've seen so far, I'm really proud of the boys. They have a good attitude. They are not pessimistic, and I certainly am not. I'm here to win—that's how I've always been, as a coach and as a player."

Baker said the main thing he has to overcome as a new coach is a change in policy, because every coach does things differently than the team has learned except from the previous coach.

"A lot of times I think it's a little bit easier to come into a new area and coach because the kids are a little bit leary of you—so much so that they are going to be working a little bit harder to prove something to you."

Coach Baker said that even though the team lost through graduation several of its star players, including Randy Worthen, Wayne Canada and Carl Dake who helped lead the team to the state crown last year, the "biggest loss" was that of Harvey Breckner and

"Martinez is a great athlete," Baker said. "He can do just about anything he wants to, and is a fine baseball player whom the pros have been looking at."

"He started as an end in football last year, has an outstanding record as a basketball player and decided to come out for soccer because he's been good at it before."

Both have leg injuries. "While I'm a little bit skeptical about leading a championship team into a new season, I enjoy it more this way."

Backs numerous, line is key to 1973 Warrior grid hopes

In increased use of younger players and a reduction in offensive-defense, platooning are among the alternatives being considered by GCHS-South football Coach Wayne Williams as he leads the Warriors in preparation for their home opener Sept. 15 against Riverview Gardens.

Division of Granite City High School into two high schools is generally regarded as creating more advantages than disadvantages for this community. But Williams believes the results will include at least a temporary setback for the football program.

Key losses involve defensive linemen and a wide receiver. Including dropouts from the current practice drills, the varsity ranks have thinned to 22.

"Football is a lot of hard work, getting ready for a ball game on a Saturday afternoon. I guess young people feel it's not worth all that extra effort," Williams comments. "Lack of enthusiasm by adults as to whether their children participate may contribute to it. I'm really not sure."

"We could put a good football team on the field right now, but some who are going to play defense would have to play offense, too. We have some of the finest and strongest boys out for football, but if a large number of injuries or if sickness should hit us, I don't know what we would do."

"Going both ways, on offense and defense, was one back in the old days. But now we're going up against teams like East St. Louis and Belleville which have two different teams as big as ours or bigger."

"We are just going to have to have one of the best conditioned teams in the area to compete," as Williams sees it.

"We have no problem at quarterback. Dave Dombek, a regular last year, is backed up by a good junior, Kirk Chapman, and a fine sophomore, Bryan Bungen."

"If we can keep linebackers

Kevin and Keith Hollis healthy this season, they are going to be the backbone of our defense."

"Offensively, Dombek is the leader along with Dale Williams, a two-year letterman at running back."

Open who may be given double duty include the Hollis twins, Mike Stanton and Tim Killian.

"We have two lettermen running backs with us, and two fine defensive halfbacks have returned. So we have people in some of the skilled positions which are hardest to find."

"Paul Mashill, a good sophomore running back last year, looks better than ever. Along with Williams, we've got Walt Milton, another junior, and a flock of sophomores."

"We are small in the line and don't have very many people. The success of the whole season may rest on the shoulders of the linemen that we have."

"There's no difficulty in them learning both offensive and defensive positions, although this does require double homework."

"It all goes back to whether they can physically keep up with it. Thank goodness the players don't seem as worried about it as we are."

There were two fielding errors on the relay from the outfield. The hosts rallied for another run in the eighth.

Mercer was out hit 11-7 Monday but had a 20-9 hitting advantage at Troy on Sunday, leading throughout. Remack went all the way on the hill for the victory.

Leading the hitting Sunday was the best hitting the team solo home run in the seventh in addition to tagging a double and a single. Centerfielder Greenwald and Harris, who was playing second base, were both four for five at bat.

"I never saw so many hits. It was the best hitting the team has done all season," Manager Wendell Corey remarked.

"I think we are going to bring the league championship to Granite City. Next Sunday at Piasa I will start Remack. The following Sunday we play at Wilson Park and I don't think we are going to need the third game."

If a third game is necessary, I want to play it on a neutral diamond, as the Piasa diamond is too rough," Corey said.

Piasa won the Blue division playoff championship as they blasted the Vans at East Alton Sunday, 11-2.

Wallace winner in stock car racing

Defending track champion Walt Spaulding of Ponton Beach lost ground in his attempt to stretch his lead in late model stock car racing point standings Friday night.

Wallace, third going into the evening's program, could only muster a one-lap time of 27.65 seconds around the half-mile oval to place seventh in time trials, as compared to the 26.91-second lap of Spaulding, fastest qualifier.

Spaulding, who maintains an almost insurmountable 1,000 point lead over Len Gittmeier, St. Charles, Mo., posted two third-place and one fourth-place finishes in the racing program to pick up another 230 points.

He finished third in the first late model heat race, won by Norm Cox, Berkeley, Mo., and then crossed the line third behind Clyde Lindemann, Cottleville, Mo., and Bill Myers, East Alton, first and second in the handicap event.

Spaulding was fourth in the featured race in which Wallace posted his first win of the season here, leading the event from start to finish. Lindemann and Myers finished second and third.

Other winners in the late model division were: 2nd heat: Louie Janssen, Bethalto; 3rd heat: Joe Northrup, Jacksonville; and Jim Patrick, Jacksonville, winner of the semi-feature event.

Pat Walsh maintained his lead in the hobby car division, leading the feature after charging to the front from the fifth starting position, on the first lap.

Rod Bailey, Granite City, who had started in 14th position, finished second.

Bailey earlier captured the first hobby heat event. Dennis Collett, St. Louis, was second. St. Louisian Roy Waugh was the only other event winner in that class.

Spaulding and Walsh will attempt to stretch their leads as late model and hobby stock car action resumes this Friday evening, with a special race being added to the regular racing program.

The St. Louis Auto Racing Association will hold a benefit race for Ronnie Taylor, St. Louis, who was critically injured in an auto accident three weeks ago.

Time trials are to begin at 7:30 p.m. The first heat event at 8:30 p.m. Friday.

Mercer gains division title

The Mercer nine returned home Monday from Collinsville as champions of the Red Division of the Inter-City Baseball League.

The Granite Cityans defeated Moltor Motors at Fletcher Field, 6-5. It was the sixth straight win for the local team, which now begins play for the league championship Sunday at 2 p.m. against the Piasa Indians at Piasa, in a two-out-of-three series. Mercer has 13 wins and 10 losses.

Local bats blasted the Red Birds Saturday on Troy's Moonlight diamond 11-7 as they racked up 20 hits in a division semifinal game.

In the Labor Day contest, Pat Harris got the win, giving way to Vic Remack in the eighth. Mercer tied the game 3-3 in the second inning and Dave Huddleston tripled in Jim Harmon and Harris in the third inning.

After Collinsville made it 5-4 in the fourth, Mercer scored again in the fifth as Jim Greenwald reached base on an error, Bob Scott singled and

Labor charges name GC Steel

Granite City Steel Co. was named in charges of unfair labor practices filed Thursday with the National Labor Relations Board by United Steelworkers of America. The charges cover all electricians at the local plant.

A spokesman alleged today the action was taken because the company threatened disciplinary action and loss of holiday pay against employees who would not work yesterday, Labor Day. He contended the local's contract provides for holiday work to be assigned only on a voluntary basis.

A spokesman for the NLRB this morning said an investigator has been assigned to the case and will determine if a hearing will be necessary.

A company spokesman said there is no validity to the claim and that under terms of the existing contract "the company can have a minimum number of maintenance and repair work scheduled during such times."

Such holiday work was necessary "because of the incredibly high production at the mill at this time and the fact that the proper time for maintenance work is during a holiday when part of the operations are closed down," the spokesman said.

Use helicopter in area search

Two Berkeley, Mo., men were arrested at Interstate 270 and Route 3 at 12:10 a.m. today after an auto accident and a helicopter search of a bean field near the intersection.

Berkley police were chasing when they believed a stolen car across the Interstate 270 bridge from Missouri into Illinois when they called Illinois State Police for assistance.

Fellowship competition open

The competition is open for 1974-1975 Danforth graduate study fellowships and Kent fellowships, both of which are administered by the Danforth Foundation, according to John Robert Russo, associate dean of the Graduate School of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

Russo said the Danforth fellowships "provide personal encouragement and financial aid to outstanding college seniors who intend to enter the college teaching profession."

"Kent fellowships provide assistance to persons who combine excellence in scholarship with genuine religious commitment and who show promise for outstanding leadership in higher education," Russo said.

"Fellowship awards are for one year. Danforth fellowships are renewable for a maximum of four years; Kent fellowships for a maximum of three years. The amount of the Foundation grant varies according to the need of the individual, but stipend may not exceed $2,025 per academic year for a single student or $2,200 for a married student, plus dependency allowances for children and required tuition and fees.

Danforth fellowship applicants must be under 30 years of age and may not have undertaken any graduate professional study beyond the baccalaureate at the time application papers are filed. Kent fellowship applicants must be under 35 and must have completed at least one year of full-time graduate study in their doctoral programs at the time application papers are filed.

In the selection of Danforth and Kent fellows, special attention is given to evidence of intellectual ability, academic achievement, personal characteristics, and concern for the relation of ethical or religious values to disciplines, the educational process, and to academic and social responsibility, Russo said.

The deadline for nominations for the fellowships is Nov. 1, and awards are announced prior to April 1. Information and application forms may be obtained from Russo in the Graduate School office, 2202 General Office Building, SIUE.

Labor Day recalls efforts to build Tri-City Temple

The observance of Labor Day in the Quad-City area Monday recalled for many union labor leaders the organization of the Tri-City Labor Temple Association and the subsequent fight to build the present Labor Temple building at 2044 State St.

The move to build the Labor Temple was initiated in January 1917 at a regular meeting of the Tri-City Central Trades Council when delegates investigated complaints of poor service and accommodations offered by the hall then rented by the council. A committee was named to work with council trustees to investigate the possibility of building a hall.

A search for a suitable site resulted in acquisition of the property on which the temple now stands and in April 1917 the secretary of state issued a charter to the Tri-City Labor Temple Association.

In October the same year, the association obtained a $35,000 loan. On Jan. 7, 1918, the contract for building the temple was awarded to H. B. Grider. Work was begun in August.

Difficulty developed when the association from which the loan had been obtained failed to pay the first installment.

An appeal was made to organizations and individuals to donate a day's pay as a subscription to a building fund. A series of other difficulties followed, including the flu epidemic of 1918, a strike at the mill and the death of the contractor whose estate filed a mechanic's lien against the temple.

In an early-day pamphlet reporting on the difficulties, the committee responded: "We must and will build it."

Lassen Willmirth vows

Large ferns and arrangements of daisies and multi-colored flowers adorned the altar of the First United Presbyterian Church of Madison for the wedding on Aug. 18 of Miss Bonnie Willmirth and Larry Lassen. Spiral candelabra illuminated the sanctuary and the pews were marked with white satin bouquets and lily of the valley. The Rev. Frank Christ officiated at the double ring ceremony at 6:30 in the evening. "Sunrise, Sunset," "One Love," "Hawaiian Wedding Song," "More" and "Twelfth of Never" were selections played by Miss Beth Ann Ledbetter, who presided at the organ. Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. John Willmirth, 1806 Sixth St., Madison. The groom is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Lassen, 1822 Fourth St., Madison.

Mr. Willmirth escorted his daughter to the altar. She appeared in a bridal gown of organza and tulle lace. The fitted bodice was designed with a v-shaped bib effect created in tulle lace and defined with a very full ruffle to form the high neckline.

Her lantern style sleeves were capped with delicate lace over sheer organza and ended with wide lace cuffs, edged in a tiny ruffle.

A lace apron trimmed with an organza ruffle was worn over the slightly gathered organza skirt that extended into a chapel train.

A crown of Venice lace flowers etched with seed pearls and accented with a satin bow held in place her mantilla veil of imported illusion. She carried a bouquet of white roses, stephanotis and baby breath festooned with white streamers.

Miss Judy Willmirth, a sister of the bride, was maid of honor, serving with Miss Vicki Chrusciel and Miss Kathy Cramer, both cousins of the bride, Miss Karen Lassen, the groom's sister, and Mrs. Jim Aufderheide as bridesmaids.

They appeared in gowns of pink, lavender, blue, yellow and mint green to create a rainbow effect. Their dresses were fashioned of nylon organza over tulle. The bodices were enhanced with lace inserts and the long sheer sleeves ended at the wrists with bands of lace.

Each attendant wore a white picture hat trimmed with crocheted lace and ribbon and carried a closed chiffon ruffled parasol with daisies and baby breath attached to the handles.

Leslie Harper, a cousin of the groom, was flower girl and wore a peach organza frock identical in style to the bridesmaids' dresses. She held a small bouquet of daisies.

Walter Chrusciel, the bride's cousin, was the ringbearer.

Attending the groom as best man was Wayne Dillinger. Bill Chrusciel, the bride's cousin, Nick Mance, Eddie Meyer and David Thebeau served as groomsmen.

David Chrusciel, a cousin of the bride, and Kevin Davis were ushers and also served as candlelighters.

A buffet dinner was served at the church immediately after the service.

Parents of the groom, Mr. and Mrs. Lassen, hosted a rehearsal dinner at Tempel's Smorgasbord.

After a wedding trip through the southern states and Florida, the newly married couple will reside at 3302 Wilshire Drive.

Both young people graduated from Madison High School. The bride is employed at General American Life Insurance Co., St. Louis, and her husband

At long last, new lanes and turn signals for Nameoki-Johnson

One of the most essential traffic intersection improvements scheduled here is that which will affect Nameoki Road at its juncture with Johnson Road on the east and Fehling Road on the west. The corner already is badly congested and will get worse as schools open tomorrow and as new commercial facilities develop along the northern section of Nameoki Road.

Final approval was given by Granite City municipal officials last week to an agreement under which the Illinois Transportation Department will proceed with an $87,655 project, most of it federal funds.

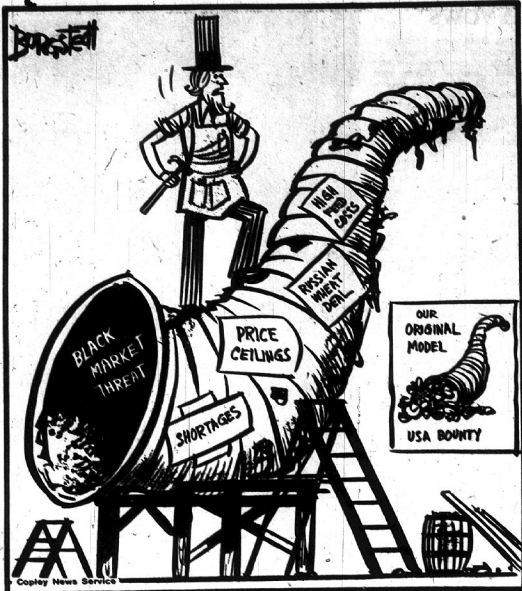

The city's share of the cost is 24.8 percent, plus right-of-way expenses which increase the local expenditure to $23,092. The state will administer the improvement during construction, after which Granite City will maintain the signs, street and pavement markings.

The intersection will be enlarged, with channelization of traffic lanes. Long-needed turn signals will be provided, and a new traffic signal system will be installed.

It seems clear that the enhanced intersection will live up to the name of the "Topics" plan under which it is being carried out—traffic operation program to increase both capacity and safety.

A footnote to the agreement is the victory of mere man over "errorless" machine. Vehicle counting devices failed to reflect the actual volume of autos, problems and hazards, and this delayed state authorization.

But actual observation of the intersection by people showed that the statistical tabulation ignored the frustrating waits behind left-turning cars and also the large number of motorists making circuitous turns through nearby shopping centers and other commercial property.

'Anybody got the original plans?'

'Flexible' Gateway taking tough stand

Excerpts from a staff report to the East-West Gateway Coordinating Council board last week, delaying approval of a proposed major residential-recreational-commercial-industrial development in Choussu and Edwardsville Townships:

In May of this year, Madison County adopted a revised zoning ordinance and map. That zoning map designated a large portion of the American Bottoms as agricultural. The text of the ordinance, however, stipulated that the map was in effect a non-binding document. Madison County rezoned about 240 acres situated northeast of U.S. Highway 111 and Interstate 270 from agricultural to various urban uses.

This parcel is a portion of a larger tract of 770 acres. The phased rezoning of the entire tract from agricultural to urban use can be anticipated.

The board of directors of East-West Gateway recently adopted flood plain management and development policies. The tract in question is in a flood plain protected by an urban levee. The relevant policies adopted are therefore as follows:

1. On-site analysis of specific local characteristics: soils, surface drainage, ground water and ponding) should be undertaken prior to development. Developments should be designed to overcome the constraints of local flood plain characteristics.
2. A date specified by the Council, a negative review will be given of any proposed development of the flood plain until flood plain legislation is enacted by the appropriate unit of government.
3. All jurisdictions containing flood plain land should meet the eligibility requirements for federally-subsidized national flood insurance.
4. Request the Army Corps of Engineers to supply detailed flood plain information for the region upon which local legislation regulating flood plain can be used.
5. In conjunction with flood plain legislation, encourage establishment of land development codes which specify the precise engineering and design conditions and standards to be adhered to in flood plain development is justified.

The tract rezoned is near the center of an area designated by the area Regional Land Use Map as rural (one housing unit per acre or less).

Relevant policy statements adopted by the board of directors as part of the Regional Land Use Plan include the following:

Encourage counties and cities to limit development in rural areas to uses and intensities not requiring urban and/or suburban levels of areawide services (this does not include new town development).

Encourage counties and cities to plan for residential, commercial and employment activities at higher intensities in a series of compact centers and corridors in relation to the existing and proposed areawide support systems.

Discourage "leap-frog" types of development and encourage growth as the expansion of existing areas or urbanization and, when possible, within existing service areas.

Encourage legislative bodies of the Council's membership to endorse the regional Land Use Plan.

Encourage and assist in the development of local plans for all areas consistent with regional planning.

STAFF ANALYSIS:

The thrust of the flood plain policies is not to prevent development in areas protected by urban levees, but rather to encourage that construction in such protected flood plains take into consideration the special characteristics of these areas.

The policies listed above thus suggest steps which should be taken by a variety of participants with respect to proposed development within the flood plain.

However, it should be pointed out that those policies contained no procedures for insuring that these various participants must take the suggested actions.

2. This rezoning is clearly inconsistent with East-West Gateway's Regional Land Use Plan. It is, in addition, inconsistent with the intent of the land use policies adopted by the Council without statutory authorities and powers.

No procedures were included within the plan when adopted to ensure that local government would automatically take steps to consider this regional plan with respect to local developments.

3. The inconsistency of the rezoning with the Regional Land Use Plan is an outgrowth of the nature of that plan, and of past East-West Gateway policies.

The Regional Land Use Plan was described when adopted as "flexible"; it was stated at that time that "the plan must be subjected to testing and continued revision and modification as the goals of the region change, as new information is made available within the region, and as change occurs."

Moreover, in the past it has clearly been indicated that zoning is not an East-West Gateway responsibility.

The policies reproduced above from the Flood Plain Management and Development Policies and the Regional Land Use Plan indicate clearly one aspect of those policies and plans that needs further elaboration.

Record year for River Festival concerts; state action awaited

The outstanding record of the Mississippi River Festival summer concert series speaks for itself. In this, the fifth year, attendance marks again were broken, reaching 208,971 for the 32 musical programs.

For the first time, the July-August season included seven rather than six weeks.

Although folk, pop and rock music attracted the largest audiences in the tent and on the adjacent hillside of the SIUE campus, the turnouts for St. Louis Symphony Orchestra appearances also showed a healthy increase. Total attendance at the Symphony's 12 weekend concerts was 34,682.

With such crowds as 28,576 for the Chicago group, 21,180 for Seals and Crofts, 18,506 for America, 17,618 for Loggins and Messina, 14,211 for Stills and Manassas and 12,311 for Sha Na Na, it is obvious that the River Festival has struck a responsive chord among prospective concert-goers in a wide area of Illinois and Missouri.

This being true, it is vital that the Festival continue annually—and also essential that part of the financing be provided by the two states and the public, such as through the Missouri State Council on the Arts, Illinois Arts Council and Friends of the Mississippi River Festival.

Without the extra help of the two arts councils and interested citizens, there is no way such an enterprise involving a major orchestra of 100 skilled members could be maintained.

Ticket prices would be excessive and self-defeating except for such a subsidy, for which there is ample precedent in the two states and throughout the United States.

Urgent and generous action by arts officials on 1973 and 1974 budget requirements would go a long way toward assuring the continuity of this region's greatest musical-cultural undertaking.

Utopian notions misled

By JEFFREY ST. JOHN
Copley News Service

NEW YORK — "The greatest problem facing the country today," observed Vice President Spiro Agnew, "is that we have become utopians. We are never satisfied with achievable, measurable gains."

St. Thomas More in his 1516 work "Utopia" first set Western man's mind to the belief that a perfect, harmonious commonwealth or community could be created. The word in its literal meaning is from Greek which means "nowhere."

In the 457 years since More's "Utopia," intellectuals in the West have sought this ideal state. In fact, most dictatorships have begun with Utopian notions. Historically, however, Utopian thinkers came to realize that to reach "nowhere," they had to rely on the unlimited power of the state or government.

During the decade of the 1960s, the young of America became infected with Utopian notions, supplied of course by their educators and elders. Now these same adults tell us that the Watergate affair must never be allowed to happen again, never stopping to ask whether Watergate was the direct result of those Utopian notions that allowed the doctrine of "the ends justify the means" to become institutionalized in American life.

For if the Senate Watergate hearings have established anything, they sharply reveal that much of the illegal, unconstitutional and un-American acts carried out on the 1972 campaign, from break-in and burglary to the cover-up were justified in the minds of the young men in the Nixon re-election campaign, because of the lawlessness of radical groups in the 1960s.

In effect, well-educated bright young men felt compelled to use unlawful means because radical individuals and groups had used and were continuing to use such illegal means. The educators, politicians and media people who today deplore Watergate are some of the same individuals who either sanctioned, by their silence or verbally, lawlessness when it was justified in the 1960s because they considered the ends were laudable.

Dr. W. Allen Wallis, chancellor of the University of Rochester, underscored this double standard. He charges that whenever radicals like Daniel Ellsberg, the Bertrigan brothers or the Black Panthers engaged in illegal and violent acts, they were justified because the ends were laudable. However, when the Watergate affair burst on the scene, it was deplored because the ends were not laudable. Dr. Wallis argues that under no circumstances does the end justify the means.

At the center of Watergate, according to Wallis, is a sickness of what he terms our "overgoverned society," brought about by the belief in Utopian ideas. "To cure the sickness of our overgoverned society," he states, "will require a renewed recognition that ends do not justify means, and that it may be necessary to obtain a desirable end promptly by means of coercive government power than to obtain the end more slowly through noncoercive, nongovernmental means. Unlimited government is unlimited evil."

"We have resorted so frequently to coercion," states Dr. Wallis, "which is another way of saying that we have turned too often to government power — when we thought it could obtain a desirable end quickly, that coercion has become a way of life. ... When attention is focused on gaining power, surreptitious and illegal activities, of which Watergate is merely one of many, inevitably proceed."

"Let us hope and pray," he adds, "that the ultimate effect of Watergate will be to lead people to change and resist the ideas that have misled them, and thus to commence to cure the sickness of an overgoverned society."

Perhaps the place to start is with the young, disabusing them of Utopian notions that can only be realized by seeking political power and thus coercive control over others, and rather, urging them to the realization of the control of their own lives.

Encourage counties and cities

Ask restraint on prying by computer use

WASHINGTON — Like Don Quixote, who spent a lifetime tilting windmills, Leonard A. Greene has spent a good part of the last two years battling a computer.

Greene, 48, a plumber in Alexandria, Va., has not actually been fighting a computer itself but rather the people who made a mistake on input of information.

That mistake, programmed into the electronic vastness and intricacies of a computer, has become a continuing nightmare to Greene, his wife Selma and their three young children.

Greene's plight has been repeated many times across the country.

He had fallen behind in payments to a Washington area department store during a period when he was paying for his wife's unexpected hospitalization for a kidney ailment.

The department store forwarded his name to a credit checking bureau as a bad risk and the information flowed to many sources. Greene eventually succeeded in getting the Washington area credit bureau to revise its report of his status, but the damage had already been done.

The negative information had been forwarded to other sources and although the correction was made at the Washington credit bureau it went no further.

Greene's application for an emergency loan to pay his wife's medical bills was turned down because of his credit rating. Other complications arose, his debts mounted and so did harassment from bill collectors.

The plight of thousands of Leonard Greene was cited the other day by Health, Education and Welfare Secretary Casper W. Weinberger in announcing a new report calling for restraints on the operation of computer data banks containing information about individual Americans.

"When I was administrator of the FTC (Federal Trade Commission)," Weinberger said, "I became acutely aware of the problems individual consumers have in getting computerized records corrected."

Weinberger said that the new report, titled "Records, Computers and the Rights of Citizens," was intended to reduce threats, large or small, to civil liberties posed by computerized record-keeping operations.

"We're not here to attack the computer," said the HEW secretary. "We literally couldn't run the government today without computers — issuing Social Security checks and keeping vital records and other chores."

"But much needs to be done in preventing possible excesses in human handling of this information."

The report was prepared by an advisory committee which was created by Atty. Gen. Elliot L. Richardson in 1972 when he was HEW secretary. Richardson, who was present at the unveiling of the report, said, "A key contribution of this committee's report is its insistence that the challenges raised by computer-based personal data record keeping should be examined as important issues of social policy rather than as narrowly conceived questions of record-keeping technique and imaginative system design."

"We must learn to temper this particular technological application with sensitive concern for the process and the average citizen's wish to be let alone," Richardson said.

China—good UN member?

WASHINGTON — The People's Republic of China delegation to the United Nations is impressing everyone with the correctness of its behavior.

"The Chinese are good U.N. members, very good. There's no question about that," said P. Bradford Morse, undersecretary general for the United Nations for political and general assembly affairs.

"For one thing," said Morse, a former congressman from Massachusetts, "the Chinese have recently voluntarily increased their own contribution to the U.N. They're earnest participants in the relief effort for the war-torn areas of West and Central Africa."

Morse said the Chinese are generally soft-spoken and diplomatic, very model of diplomatic decorum.

"The only time they really get excited about things," he said, "is when a question concerning the Soviet Union comes up," said Morse. "There's no love lost there, believe me."

What about the feeling that the United States is paying the freight for the United Nations while the tiny Asian and African states are hardly paying anything?

"The United States is the only nation that pays the maximum of 25 per cent from any one source that was imposed by the General Assembly," Morse said.

"But under a formula which took into account the gross national product and other things, the American share is considerably less than some others."

Advisory Committee meeting, the staff meet with the Ad Hoc Committee, consisting of the regional planning directors, to perfect the criteria for the planning analyses suggested above; to decide for example, what constitutes a major development and what the analysis should contain.

These planning criteria would be brought back next month to the EAC and for subsequent action by the board.

If subsequently adopted by the board, it is further suggested that these planning criteria be sent to each major unit of government in the region for endorsement.

Lastly, it is suggested that the planning analyses prepared by the future planning team be recommendations be submitted to East-West Gateway for staff comment.

Hopefully, doing so will add to the information available to the decision-makers prior to reasoning actions and will forestall or provide early warning of possible A-55 conflicts.

STAFF RECOMMENDATIONS

Preparation of the planning analyses suggested herein should present no significant problem, since most major local governments have or should have access to professional planning advice which should be sought with respect to any major proposed development.

This proposal would merely insure that regional plans as well as local plans are considered prior to local actions which have regional impact.

Statehouse restored; costly in 1870s and 1970s

FACE-LIFT—Construction workers gut the House of Representatives chamber in preparation for complete renovation. Scheduled for completion in March, 1974, the project calls for a new desk and chair for each member, an improved sound system, a new air-conditioning system and structural reinforcement of the floor and visitor galleries.

'Skeletons' in Illinois' closet are unearthed

SPRINGFIELD — Thanks to extravagant and perhaps ingenious architects back in 1868, the Illinois Statehouse is by far one of the most ornate and impressive structures to house government west of Washington, D.C.

Rising 61 feet above the evergrowing community of Springfield, it is a towering tribute to Illinois and its political past.

And perhaps, the building could be viewed as a grim reminder of numerous political scandals that have rocked Illinois government and the Statehouse as well, from the tip of its elaborate dome to its solid stone foundation.

In July, 1972, the Capitol building rehabilitation project ground to a halt in the midst of a major scandal. Expensive contract add-ons, illegal bidding procedures and alleged cash kickbacks by contractors to state officials had inflated rehabilitation costs some $4 million beyond the original $14.3 estimate.

A federal grand jury in Chicago is expected to return indictments in connection with the project. The Illinois Legislative Investigating Commission has been probing the matter for about a year.

Supervising architect Harry Fernandes has been fired, though his alleged involvement in wrongdoing has not been proved.

In 1877, nine years after the first spade of dirt for the new building was turned, construction ground to a halt, tangled in a scandalous web.

Upon the direction of Senate President Andrew Shuman of the 39th General Assembly, a special investigating commission was established to probe costly contract add-ons, allegations of rigged bidding and alleged cash kickbacks by contractors.

Supervising architect Alfred H. Piquenard, believed to be the principal designer of the massive Statehouse, died in 1876. But not before he reportedly ordered, without authorization, expensive contract changes which the Senators feared would balloon construction costs far beyond the $3.5 million constitutional limitation.

Though testimony of the numerous construction workers, contractors and the three Statehouse commissioners is confusing and often conflicting, Piquenard, in a face-saving economy effort, apparently went on to order inferior portland cement as a substitute for stone, marble and tiling for other sections of the building.

Shoddy workmanship and inferior materials precipitated this somewhat typical bout of questioning between commission chairman Jones and a stone cutter named W.D. Richardson.

Jones: Now Mr. Richardson, there has been a good deal of talk and printed statements as to bad management and dishonesty in the handling of Statehouse appropriations. Do you know of any misappropriation of the Statehouse money?

Richardson: No sir, I don't know what they done with the money.

Jones: Have you ever heard of money being used in any manner to influence contractors or parties who were dealing with the Statehouse appropriations?

Richardson: I have heard rumors, as everybody else has heard, but nothing I consider reliable.

Jones: Now, Mr. Richardson, we want a plain and unvarnished answer to this question: Do you know that a single dollar of the $3.5 million appropriated to build and furnish the Statehouse and grounds has been illegally, wrongfully or unjustly diverted from its proper use?

Richardson: I answer no, not having been in a position to know of anything of the kind.

Ultimately, the commission probes concluded that Piquenard was to blame for the added expenses and apparently misled the three building commissioners who were inexperienced in architecture.

THAT HOLLOW FEELING—Pillars in the House chamber were found to be completely hollow during rehabilitation. Many of the pillars were the sole support of the east and west visitor galleries. The east gallery was closed to the public several years ago after architects declared it structurally unsafe for occupancy.

There are no records of criminal indictments stemming from the legislative probe. However, Piquenard's successor and former business partner, John C. Cochran, was fired.

It is not clear from the transcripts how much money the senators felt would be needed to complete construction.

There are few records of the building and its progress after 1877. But state historians have pegged the final cost at the time of completion in 1888, at between $5.5 million to $6 million.

(Though incomplete, the General Assembly first occupied the Statehouse in 1877.)

Miss Deborah Cox wed in afternoon ceremony

Miss Deborah Cox, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James E. Cox, 2907 Sunset Drive and Donald Harris, son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Harris Jr., 2532 Washington Ave., exchanged wedding vows in an afternoon ceremony Saturday at the Bethel Evangelical Free Church.

Daisy bouquets and lighted candles decorated the altar for the double-ring ceremony at 2 o'clock, performed by the Rev. Robert Widbin. Bryan Widbin sang several selections prior to the service.

Escorted to the altar by her father, the former Miss Cox chose a floor-length gown fashioned of tulle featuring a natural waistline encircled with a satin sash and secured in the back with a bow. Venice lace motifs accented the bodice and long puff sleeves cuffed with organza ruffles.

Her veil of matching lace was held in place with a garland of daisies and she carried a bouquet of white daisies.

Maid of honor Miss Denise Cox and bridesmaids Miss Carla Cox, both sisters of the bride, and Mrs. Patty Schreiber, were matching dresses.

They were fashioned in a light blue cotton designed with fitted bodices, natural waistlines and semi gathered skirts. With a three-tiered ruffle at the hemlines.

Ruffles marked the necklines and formed the cuffs of the sleeves. Each girl wore a blue hat and carried baskets of white, blue and pink daisies.

Jamie Headrick served as ringbearer and escorted the flower girl, Kelle Moore. She was dressed in a short white eyelet frock accented with a blue sash and held a basket of blue, white and pink daisies.

The groom chose his brother, Pat Harris, to serve as best man. Groomsmen and ushers included another brother, Larry Harris, Dennis Kunemann, Jim Hagnauer and Dave Ricker.

For her daughter's wedding.

MR. AND MRS. DONALD HARRIS, who were married on Saturday afternoon at Bethel Evangelical Free Church. The bride is the former Miss Deborah Cox, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James E. Cox, 2907 Sunset Drive. (Ollis Studio Photo)

Mrs. Cox was attired in a long rose pink dress complemented with a corsage of pink rose buds centered with a white garland. The groom's mother, Mrs. Harris, selected a light mint green sleeveless gown featuring an accented-pleated skirt. She wore a corsage of red roses.

A reception was held at the church fellowship hall following the service. Members of the wedding party attended a rehearsal dinner at Riedels Restaurant in Edwardsville.

The newly-married couple left for a wedding trip to Colorado and will reside in Granite City.

Both young people graduated from Granite City High School. The bride is now employed at Graham Paper Co. in St. Louis. Mr. Harris is a junior at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville and a member of the SIUE Varsity baseball team.

Job's Daughters honor parents, plan visit

Plans were made for an official visit here by the grand guardian of Illinois and "Parents' Night" was observed to highlight a meeting last week of Bethel 45, International Order of Job's Daughters, at the Masonic Temple. Miss Lori Houser, honored queen, presided.

More than 75 guests attended the parents night event and as the girls introduced their parents, each presented her mother with a carnation.

Mrs. Betty McKern, grand guardian of Illinois, will make her official visit to Bethel 45 Sept. 11, will conduct special installation ceremonies for Mrs. Rebecca Slate, guardian-elect, it was announced.

The librarian's report on the subject "Maturity Is," written by Sue Sackett, the retiring librarian, was read by Miss Becky Burke.

All proceeds from the current fund raising project—"work day"—should be turned in to the Bethel treasurer no later than

Fluoride treats deafness disease

By IRWIN J. POLK
Copley News Service

The recommendation was made by Dr. George E. Shambaugh, Jr., an ear specialist and professor at Northwestern University Medical School.

He noted that fluorides were being used for treatment of other diseases in which sponginess of the bone was a problem and suggested that fluoride be used to treat otosclerosis. By 1966, Dr. Shambaugh was giving large doses of fluoride to patients with otosclerosis but was unable to show conclusively that the treatment helped.

Recent studies seem to confirm Dr. Shambaugh's theory. Using radioactive strontium to identify growing bone, Dr. Fred H. Luthman, Jr., of the University of Southern California School of Medicine, showed that otosclerosis is due to bone overgrowth and that this overgrowth can be controlled by use of fluoride.

The studies were done after hearing tests showed that most patients with otosclerosis who used fluoride daily over a period of three years had no further hearing loss.

These studies give solid evidence that sodium fluoride can stop the process of otosclerosis. Use of sodium fluoride in doses of 25 milligrams a day by mouth slows the increasing loss of hearing and in some cases improves the hearing.

Shambaugh has treated more than 1,000 patients with sodium fluoride and reports no serious side effects of the drug. The only bad effect is irritation of the lining of the stomach which is not severe, and can be corrected by using coated fluoride tablets.

Who should be treated with sodium fluoride? According to Luthman, any patient between 18 and 80 who has progressive hearing loss should have an x-ray for otosclerosis. If the x-ray shows the disease present, the patient is treated with fluoride.

Transportation and Aeronautics merge

Gov. Dan Walker on Friday announced he has signed Senate Bill 1192, merging the department of Aeronautics into the Department of Transportation.

He also certified House Bill 1125, which creates the Illinois Aeronautics Board within the new Division of Aeronautics of the Department of Transportation.

Before adjournment last June he had returned House Bill 1125 to the General Assembly with recommended technical changes. Legislators agreed to amend the bill as suggested. It takes effect Jan. 1.

The merger, effective immediately, completes formation of the state Department of Transportation, which was created in January 1972. Aeronautics Director Guy Wood will remain as the director of the new Aeronautics Division.

Gov. Walker said, "Placement of the Aeronautics Department into the department integrates all major state transportation functions into one central agency. It is an efficient move to a wise one."

Wood commented, "The new Aeronautics Division will have the authority to preserve its integrity, provide a strong advocate for general aviation in Illinois and retain trained and experienced aviation personnel."

Seek propane gas for Illinois farms

Twenty-nine delegates of Illinois farm organizations and farm fuel suppliers met in Washington, D. C., today to urge adoption of strict, mandatory allocations of propane gas.

John A. Love, head of the Energy Policy Office, has said that "diversion of propane from traditional agricultural and residential users to industrial and utility users will result in absolute shortage of propane for these traditional high-priority users."

Gov. Dan Walker has asked the delegates, who are scheduled to meet in the White House with Love, to stress the urgency of final adoption of the proposal. Robert J. Williams, director of the Illinois Department of Agriculture, and Marvin Lernerman, chairman of the Illinois Commerce Commission, will represent the governor.

Walker said farmers will need 105 million gallons of propane gas in order to dry and condition their grain without spoiling this year. In a survey by the Illinois LP (liquid petroleum) Gas Dealers Association, it is estimated that the LP gas industry is short 115,658,000 gallons for all purposes.

Williams said the federal government has agreed to an additional acreage for more grain this year, and Illinois farmers responded by planting an additional 2.4 million acres of which they will need more fuel.

STATE BOARD WILL IMPROVE EDUCATION

To the Editor:

The people of Illinois have won an important victory in the field of education. Governor Walker has signed the measure to create a State Board of Education and we look forward to his making outstanding appointments to this board.

The League of Women Voters fought hard for passage of this bill and we were pleased that the governor in his statement, issued at the time of the signing, singled out the League for credit in this effort.

Eight members of the 17-member board will be selected from Cook County, two from each of the other four judicial circuits and one at large.

The board will have jurisdiction over public and private schools from pre-kindergarten through high school and vocational education schools.

We feel the new board should take politics out of education.

ALERT HIGHWAY AID PATROL COMENDED

To the Editor:

This morning coming to work I had a flat tire as I rounded the curve out of Madison leading up to the Poplar Street Bridge.

I hadn't been there five minutes when a highway patrol truck pulled in behind me and a very courteous gentleman changed my tire for me. Believe me, he looked like an angel.

These men are to be commended for their work. I want to thank him and all the rest of the patrol and whoever made this service possible.

They should be called "The Guardian Angels of the Highway." Thanks again from the bottom of my heart.

Brush pickups pose problem

By HARRY BARNES
Press-Record Staff Writer

Granite City residents who are making increased demand for brush and leaf pickups are posing a severe problem for the city street department which now is at the peak of its summer street maintenance program.

Lionel Portell, superintendent of streets, reported last week. The demand has become so persons are likely to have piles of limbs and leaves on their front lawns until the street department can solve a multiplicity of other problems.

Portell said. Much of the problem results from residents placing limbs, brush cuttings and leaves on their front lawns, expecting city trucks to pick them up, instead of bagging the leaves and hauling the cuttings to be picked up by the trash collectors from the alleys.

The city has a separate contract with Milam Corp. for pickup of such items, but they must be bagged, and bundled and placed in the alleys, Portell explained.

At the moment, the street superintendent said, the street department is confronted with one of the heaviest work loads in recent years, resulting from recent heavy rains that caused flooding, storms that blew down trees and limbs, and a series of sewer breaks in the Nameoki area.

Portell said that in addition to a great amount of work required to clean streets after heavy rains which hit the city several times during August, water in low-lying areas has resulted in "swarms of mosquitoes" in areas that require many hours of fogging operations which also is done by the street department.

Mosquitoes have become particularly troublesome in areas near the Nameoki drainage ditch and Doherty Slough in the old Alton Road area and the West 25th Street-Lagan Avenue areas, Portell said.

Street department workers have been fogging the afflicted areas constantly, but mosquitoes "are breeding faster than we can kill them," the street superintendent remarked.

Portell said his department initiated a street-cleaning

Granite City Press-Record
Page 20 Tue., Sept. 4, 1973

program last week, using the street sweeper in downtown areas to clean up debris drifted against curbs and around sewer outlets during the August rains. As much of the debris as possible will be cleaned up to avoid it being washed into the sewers in the event of future rains, he said.

The fire department used one truck and two men last week to hose down several downtown streets. The two-man crew worked seven hours to do the job. Other streets will be given the same treatment this week.

Approximately one-third of the city's 36-man street department has been working for the past several months at sites of 14 sewer breaks, manning pumps and keeping sewage moving around breaks in the lines.

This has worked a serious hardship on the street department at a time when the summer maintenance program is in operation. Portell said that while oil and chips was spread on ungraded streets by contract with Midwest Asphalt Co. of Collinsville, the street department must prepare the streets before that work is done.

This takes a crew of at least six men for each street that is oiled and regraded, the number of manhours required at each project depending upon the length of the streets to be treated.

"The summer street program, sewer breaks and mosquito spraying is taxing the street department facilities and is leaving us no time to make calls to pick up limbs and brush cuttings," Portell explained. "I am afraid that some people will be disappointed, but it is impossible for the street workers to answer such calls at this time," he said.

"Residents who have limbs, leaves and brush to be hauled away should prepare it properly and place it along the alleys to be picked up by the regular trash collectors who are being paid under a separate city contract to do this type of work," Portell added.

Madison schools Flexibility is key to set meal policy future, graduates told Madison Community Unit District 12 today announced a free meal policy for school children under 18 years of age.

The policy of meals served in schools under the National School Lunch and School Breakfast Programs.

Illinois statutes require all public schools to provide free lunches to children from families whose income is at or below the established guidelines. Local school officials have adopted the following family size-income criteria for use in determining eligibility.

One in family, $2,740 income; two, $3,600; three, $4,460; four, $5,310; five, $6,160; six, $6,990; seven, $7,800; eight, $8,610; nine, $9,400; ten, $10,180; eleven, $10,940; twelve, $11,680; each additional family member, $840.

Children from families whose income is at or below those shown are eligible for meals free. In addition, families not meeting this criteria but with other unusual expenses due to unusually high medical expenses, shelter costs in excess of 30 per cent of income, special education expenses due to the mental or physical condition of a child, and disaster or casualty losses are urged to apply.

They may do so by filling in the application forms sent home in a letter to parents. Additional copies are available at the principal's office in each school. The information provided on the application will be confidential and will be used only for the purpose of determining eligibility. Applications may be submitted any time during the school year.

In certain cases foster children are also eligible for these benefits. If a family has such children living with them and wishes to apply for such meals for them, they should contact the school.

In the operation of child feeding programs, no child will be discriminated against because of his race, sex, color, or national origin.

Under the provisions of the policy the Building Principal will review applications and determine eligibility. If a parent is dissatisfied with the ruling of the official, he may make a request either orally or in writing to John Palchert, Superintendent of Schools, whose address is 1707 Fourth St., Madison, Ill., for a hearing to appeal the decision. Hearing procedures are outlined in the policy.

A complete copy of the policy is on file in each school and in the office of the Superintendent of Schools where it may be reviewed by any interested party.

BURGLARY CHARGED
Karl Chism, 17, of 2557 Madison Ave., was arrested at home at 6:40 p.m. Friday and was charged with burglary. The graduates of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville were urged to remain flexible in the face of an uncertain future, at the summer commencement Friday.

Carol Keene, chairperson of the University's Department of Philosophical Studies, delivered the commencement address before more than 1,100 graduates. The ceremony was held at the SIUE outdoor performing arts facility.

"Our condition is indeed a mixed and ambiguous one," Miss Keene said, "but we must find within ourselves the resilience, the flexibility to respond openly to our ever-changing circumstances and to the uncertainties of our future."

"We all know, Miss Keene said, that "nively need not always involve a turn for the worse. Still, our reaction to change is usually to steel ourselves against it, she said, "because it can bring us grief as well as joy, tragedy as well as happiness."

Noting the current nostalgia among the young for simpler times, she warned against ignoring the reality of the 1950's. The Korean War, a recession, the U-2 crisis, and other social and political ills.

"If nostalgia is to play a constructive role in our relation to the future," she said, "it must be tempered by an historical understanding and an awareness that no decade, no generation has cornered the market on a perfect world."

"Indeed, in this sense, there is a community to the human condition that extends to all generations."

Miss Keene concluded that "We must find the courage to admit that distrust breeds only distrust, that cynicism breeds only more cynicism, and that the only possibility of changing the climate in our land is to first change the climate in our hearts."

Two honorary doctoral degrees were awarded at the mid-morning ceremony. The Rev. Paul Reinert, S.J., president of St. Louis University and Dr. William H. Danforth, chancellor of Washington University, were honored for their contributions to higher education.

Ease chest x-ray rule

Dr. Joyce Lashof, director of the Illinois Department of Public Health, announced Friday that the state's more than 275,000 public school employees will no longer be required to have annual chest x-rays for tuberculosis.

A law which becomes effective Oct. 1 exempts all but new school employees from having chest x-rays or tuberculin skin tests to show freedom from tuberculosis.

"The requirement of annual examinations for all school employees can no longer be justified," Dr. Lashof said. "Tuberculosis authorities agree that the examination of school personnel as a protective measure is no longer necessary."

"Tuberculosis in the general population is at such a low level that indiscriminate mass tuberculin testing programs have either been eliminated or are in the process of being eliminated," she concluded.

Graduates from recruit training

Navy Airman Recruit Daniel R. Butler, son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald L. Butler, 615 Barkley Ave., has graduated from recruit training at the Naval Training Center at Orlando, Fla.

A 1973 graduate of Granite City High School, he is scheduled to report to Aviation Fire Control Technician "A" School at Memphis, Tenn.

RECOMMENDING ENDORSEMENT by Granite City teachers Thursday at the Labor Temple were members of the salary and policy committee of Teachers' Local 743. A new agreement with the school district was ratified. From the left are: Sonya Adkerson, secretary;

Bill Rotter; John Boyer, retiring president; William Albers, new president; Don Shaffner, committee chairman; Mrs. Shirley Sroll; Mrs. Dede Hodges; Victor Popovsky and Richard Huff, secretary.

HONORARY DOCTOR OF LETTERS. Father Paul C. Reinert, S.J., right, president of St. Louis University, receiving an honorary doctor of letters degree at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville Friday night. The degree was conferred by Dr. John S. Reinert, president of SIUE. More than 1,100 bachelor and master degrees were conferred at the SIUE summer commencement.

License plate renewals in mail

"All necessary changes may be made on pre-printed renewal notices in applying for 1974 auto license plates," Michael J. Howlett, Secretary of State, said today.

"Renewal notices can be updated by the applicant," Howlett said.

"Any incorrect information should be corrected right on the pre-printed form, even if the application does not cover the vehicle you are now driving or the address has been changed."

More than 5 million notices are being mailed from the Secretary of State's office in time for applicants to meet the Sept. 30 reassignment deadline.

"Renewal notices are pre-printed and mailed for the convenience of registered car owners," Howlett said. "We will be able to give improved service with their cooperation."

When ordering plates by mail, motorists should remember to include their 1973 ID card and proper registration fee with their renewal notice.

Plates go on sale over-the-counter Dec. 3. This year, they will be sold at 291 banks throughout the state, an increase of 85 over last year.

Howlett emphasized that field applications are no longer optional if renewal notices are lost or destroyed.

The applicant would need to apply for a duplicate by writing or calling the Secretary of State's office.
